A Message from Your Library

I am excited to share with you that the St. Joseph Public Library is moving to a new integrated library system (ILS) in May. An ILS is the computer software system library staff use to get books and movies ready to check by cataloging it. It is the system we use to check out materials to you. It is also the computer software behind the online catalog where you can look for books and movies, put items on reserve, and see what you currently have checked out.

SJPL is leaving the ILS company we have been with for over twenty years, SirsiDynix. We have been happy with SirsiDynix but are on a stand-alone system that only includes the books, movies, and other materials in our own collection. In May we are joining the Missouri Evergreen Consortium that has been in place since 2012. SJPL will be the 61st Missouri public library to join.

Why should you care about this? We currently have about 250,000 items in our collection of materials. Once we join Missouri Evergreen, you'll have access to over 3.5 million items. You will be able to easily borrow items from any other library in the consortium without having to make an interlibrary loan request if SJPL doesn't have the book, audiobook, or movie available for you to check out. Another big plus is that the annual fee we pay for the ILS software will be lower as a member of the Missouri Evergreen Consortium compared to what we have been paying SirsiDynix. We will use those extra funds to do things like purchase receipt printers so it is easier to track what you have checked out and when it is due.

Migrating to a new ILS is complicated and expensive. Thankfully, the project is supported by the Institute of Museum and Library Services under the provision of the Library Services and Technology Act as administered by the Missouri State Library, a division of the Office of the Secretary of State. The expense part of the equation, which totals over $56,000 is being reimbursed by grant funding. The complicated part? There is a lot of information that will be transferred from one system to another. Also, all of us at SJPL have to learn a new computer system and you will have to learn a new online catalog.

Can I promise you and the SJPL library staff that there won't be frustrations and problems with the migration? No. I can't imagine everything will go completely smoothly, but we'll be training staff and offering training to you on the new catalog too. Once the migration is complete, it is going to be fantastic to be a partner with so many other Missouri libraries and offer you easy access to so many more materials.

If you would like a preview of Missouri Evergreen, please visit <http://moevergreenlibraries.org/>.

Thank you for taking this journey with us in a few months,

Mary Beth Revels, Director

Seed Library at the Downtown and East Hills libraries Beginning in March

Spring is on the horizon which means the St. Joseph Public Library Seed Library is returning to the library. We have a variety of vegetables, herbs and flowers including beans, corn, cucumber, lettuce, melon, peas, pepper, radish, squash and tomato seeds.

Anyone interested in seeds can select up to 10 seed packets (no more than 2 of one kind) during the Downtown and East Hills Libraries regular open hours.

Gardeners who have saved seeds to share or have extras from this year's planting are encouraged to donate them to the Seed Library to help increase the inventory of seeds.

For more information about the Seed Library, please contact the Downtown Library at 232-7729.
